

I am bitterly opposed to BPL. It doesn't make sense. The technology does not exist to operate BPL without creating interference on the HF and low VHF frequencies. Why are we discarding almost 80 MHz of precious resource to satisfy a special interest?

There are continual improvements in technology. I suggest that you delay approving this technology until it has been improved to where it does not create interference on the HF frequencies.